BEYOND THE BOX

Beyond the Box are inviting East Londoners 14-25 years of age interested in Cultural Production to take part in a new project. They've brought together some of the country's leading Cultural Producers working in Theatre, TV, Music, Visual Art, Fashion and Festival and Museum curation, to deliver a FREE online Masterclass series launching in March.

The online Masterclasses (each 90 mins) will take place every Tuesday evening at 5.30pm starting in March and will run for 10 weeks. At the end of the Masterclass series Beyond the Box will open up applications, for paid roles, to collaborate with young aspiring Cultural Producers from across East London. The Producers will work to create a 10-day festival that will take place at the People's Pavilion at Here East in the Olympic Park, opening in August.

The Big Bang
UK Young Scientists and Engineers
Competition For Year 7-13
Opens March

The Big Bang Competition is a way to recognise young people's achievements while building their confidence, inspiring them to explore an area of interest and enhancing their project work skills. This year all projects will be entered online between March and early May, and all competitors will receive feedback from our expert judges to help them develop their ideas. The Competition is open to all UK residents in full-time education or training, aged 11 to 19. Participants can enter any project work they have completed (including for other competitions or challenges), be it at school or through a STEM club or at home. Finalists get to compete for amazing prizes, including the coveted titles of GSK UK Young Engineer and GSK UK Young Scientist of the Year.

To register, read more about the competition and get tips and exclusive advice on how to create a successful project visit <https://competition.thebigbangfair.co.uk/get-started/sign-up-for-top-tips/>
